

Twenty-Seven Surplus Planes On Sale Soon

Twenty-seven surplus aircraft, ranging in price from $2,000 to $27,500, go on sale to veterans of World War II at Cal Aero Field, Ontario, from July 23 to August 6, inclusive, according to Leo R. McGee, regional aircraft division chief, War Assets Administration.

Four of the ships are Douglas C-47s priced at $27,500; twelve are C-47As at $22,500; three are Lockheed "Lodestar", C-60s at $12,500; two are Beechcraft twin-engine five-passenger AT-7s—one at $22,500, and one at $20,000; three are Grumman "Widgeon" amphibian J-4F-2s at $20,000 and one is a J-4F-1 at $16,000.

Two Stinson two-passenger liaison L-6s costing $2,000; and one Noodyn "Norseman" C-60—a light cargo plane powered by a single 650 h.p. engine—priced at $8,500, complete the inventory.

The sale will be conducted on an "as is—where is" basis. Federal agencies buying on July 22, veterans next, from July 23 to August 6, then RFC for resale to small businessmen on August 7, with any residue being sold to states and municipalities on August 8.

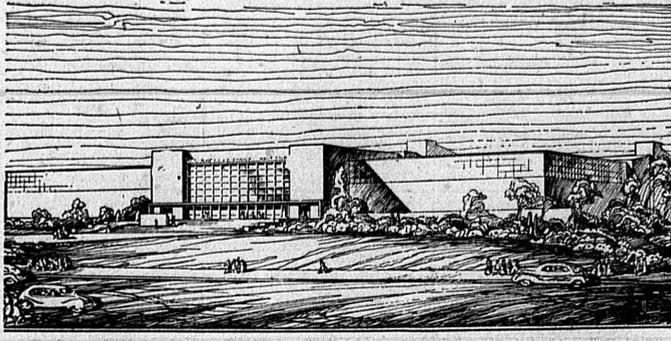

Veterans are urged to obtain priorities, and make any necessary credit arrangements, at least two weeks prior to the opening date of the sale, as no one will be certified to buy at the sales site. Certification can be obtained in Los Angeles at 3836 Beverly Blvd., in San Diego at 4205 Pacific Highway, and in Phoenix at 35th and W. Van Buren. The War Assets Administration credit office is located in Los Angeles at 155 W. Washington Blvd. in the Mode o' Day building.

PROPOSED ADDITION TO COUNTY MUSEUM

Tentative plans are shown of the addition to Los Angeles County Museum, Exposition Park, to be built with passage of Proposition 5 at the special August 6 election. At cost of $2,600,000 the improvement will approximately double display space of present Museum, which now has almost twice as many exhibits as it has room to show.

Criminal Action Faced By Those Who Start Fires

State Forester DeWitt Nelson today announced that every man-caused fire occurring on forest and watershed lands protected by the Division of Forestry will be investigated for possible criminal or civil infraction of law. This action is a part of the recently adopted law enforcement policy of the State Board of Forestry whose members, Mr. Nelson stated, are conscientiously and constructively attacking the increasing fire occurrence problem in California. Land owners and tenants of our forest, grass, and watershed lands must realize, he said, that it is their responsibility, independent of State effort, to control fires burning on their lands, and in cases where our educational prevention work fails with the people, a well executed law enforcement program is necessary.

Each year, the State Forester continued, thousands of dollars of public funds are expended to suppress fires willfully or negligently caused by man. As the representative of the California people in fire problems on lands of statewide interest, the Division of Forestry will, by law, attempt to collect

Annexation to District Only Fair Means of Getting Colorado Water

A statement setting forth the reasons why the District cannot extend water service to civilian consumers outside the boundaries of its constituent areas was authorized by unanimous vote of the Board of Directors at a recent meeting. The statement follows:

"Only by the importation of water from sources outside the Coastal Plain of Southern California has the development of this territory and its future population and industrial expansion been made possible. Equity and justice dictate that when this supplemental water is extended to any area the service should be provided under terms from the responsible individuals the public funds expended fighting fires when the investigation show conclusively the fires were started either willfully, negligently or in violation of law. The Board of Forestry feels, he added, that there will be fewer fires in California when people realize they not only can be convicted for violating the law, and made liable to other land owners for damage caused, but that they can be charged with the expense of fighting the fires.

"During the period of the war. The Metropolitan Water District of Southern California stood ready to provide emergency water service to essential war industries that happened to be located beyond its boundaries, and this policy greatly strengthened the war production of this entire region. Several of the district cities extended emergency water service to war plants outside their boundaries. Such service was understood to be temporary and intended solely for the purpose of meeting a war emergency.

"In the common interest of taxpayers and water users in the constituent areas of the Metropolitan Water District, the service of supplemental water for civilian uses in outside areas cannot be justified for the reason that these outside areas are not required to contribute to the water supply costs on a basis comparable to district communities.

"In this connection the local or previously acquired water supplies of the various District areas and the water from the Colorado River aqueduct must be considered as one invisible water resource for the reason that one complements and supplements the other. Thus the service by District areas of water from their local sources to an outside territory works the same economic injustice upon the taxpayers and water users of that city and all other district cities as though Colorado River aqueduct water had been supplied.

"The board of directors and officers of the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California strongly support a program of industrial, business and residential development throughout the entire Coastal Plain area. The best evidence of this is found in the fact that the cities comprising the district have been willing to assume the obligation of a $20,000,000 bond issue to finance the building of the Colorado River aqueduct. Its ultimate capacity will be sufficient, together with local water supplies, to meet the water requirements of the communities now within the district and for at least a portion of the remainder of the Coastal Plain.

"District officials wish to encourage and assist in every proper way the development of the Coastal Plain as a whole. However, it is inequitable and unnecessary for the District to promote the interests of outside areas at the expense of District taxpayers. Consequently, except during the war emergency, the District has been bound to deny requests for the delivery of water outside its boundaries.

"Short of annexation to the District, there is no means of fairly distributing aqueduct carrying charges to these outside areas. The same economic conditions which would make it unfair to District taxpayers for the District to deliver water outside its boundaries apply with equal force to the individual."

Torrance is a member of the District, but private producers have been seeking means of securing the Colorado River supply to aid in the serious water-shortage problem of the West Basin beach cities.

PROMOTION
Promotion of Privates Arvil W. Daniel and Eugene J. Erbetta of Torrance's Company "H," 2nd battalion, 39th regiment, California State Guard, to rank of privates first class, was announced today by State Guard headquarters in Sacramento.

Sheriff's Rodeo On August 25

Rodeo fans will thrill once again to the cry of "ride 'em cowboy!" when the county's greatest rodeo is staged in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum on Sunday, August 25th. This gigantic thrill-packed show is the annual presentation of the Sheriff's Relief Association of Los Angeles County of which Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz is president.

This year, all of the spectacular activity will be staged in one afternoon of highly competitive horsemanship. The show, approved by the Rodeo Cowboys' Association, to which every contesting participant is a member, will draw top-ranking cowboys from all over the nation to compete for the large purse of prize money.

The nation's number one cowboys will compete in riding the wildest and toughest broncos and wild brahma bulls. Steer wrestling, bull-dogging, calf-roping, wild cow milking and many other novel events will add to the exciting contests. The largest assemblage of the world's finest trick riders and fancy ropers will be presented in new thrilling production settings. Races, chuck wagon and Roman will be presented.

New features are being planned and will have their premier at this show, all of which will provide rodeo enthusiasts with an afternoon of thrills and spills by the country's daredevils and stunt performers.

As this event is the largest of its kind, and attracts the greatest number of horse owners in the county, it enjoys the distinction of presenting the most spectacular display of highly prized horses and elaborate equipment in the West. The grand entry parade presents one of the most colorful sights to be viewed by the public.

Local horse owners and riders are invited to participate in the colorful grand entry parade and compete for the many beautiful awards and trophies. Entries should be sent to the office of the Sheriff's Annual Show, Suite 405, 427 W. 5th St., Los Angeles 13, Calif.
